

A flying start - Development, rapid adaptation and collaborative work through a newly established Scottish Network for Acute Palliative Care: SNAPC

Sime C<sup>1</sup>, MacLeod M<sup>2</sup>, O'Neill C<sup>3</sup>, Buchanan D<sup>4</sup>

<sup>1</sup>Scottish Partnership for Palliative Care <sup>2</sup>NHS Fife <sup>3</sup>NHS Greater Glasgow & Clyde <sup>4</sup>NHS Tayside Correspondence to caroline.sime@palliativecarescotland.org.uk

Abbreviated abstract:

In January 2020 the Scottish Network for Acute Palliative Care (SNAPC) was launched with the aim to provide a means through which hospital palliative care teams can collaborate to improve palliative care in Scottish hospitals.

During the pandemic SNAPC was utilized to offer clinicians a platform to communicate, share and plan coordinated responses. In addition the network facilitated meetings for primary care, social care and senior management and policy makers.

SNAPC has proven to be a useful and appreciated network and there is a continued need for support and collaboration as services move to new ways of working

Aims of SNAPC

- Strengthen the local and national voice of its members to influence policy development, resource allocation and promote public understanding.
- To facilitate communication, information sharing, mutual support and collaboration across teams and health boards to support improvement.
- To develop, agree and deliver a programme of work to be taken forward by network members.

What people wanted SNAPC to achieve:

How people felt about SNAPC in Jan 2020:

SNAPC Utilisation During the Pandemic

- Between March - May SNAPC hosted 29 virtual meetings.
- Meetings focused on:
  - Developing of COVID specific palliative care guidelines, visiting guidance, staff support and new models of care delivery.
  - The sharing of up to date local, regional and national information including covid-19 updates, and developments in health and social care.
  - Gave staff the opportunity to connect, share and support one another.

Next Steps

- Continue virtual meetings to influence policy development at a local and national level.
- Complete a national mapping exercise of acute palliative care services within Scotland.
- Support QI projects to improve the experiences of patients and their families.
- Develop public engagement activities to increase awareness of acute palliative care services.

What SNAPC members would like to see grow, nurture and amplify:

