

Join us for the fourth annual NHS Education for Scotland
Bereavement Education Conference on Tuesday 28th November

Date

Tuesday 28th November 2023

Time

09:20 – 16:00

This is a free, one-day virtual event for all health and social care staff.

Registration

Please register to attend by using the button below. Registration closes on Tuesday 7th November.

The conference will be opened by Cariad Lloyd host of award-winning podcast Griefcast and author of You Are Not Alone.

We will also hear from Dr Rachel Clarke, palliative care doctor and author of three Sunday Times bestselling non-fiction books, who will close the conference.

Sessions in the morning will focus on providing bereavement support in different circumstances and the theme of the afternoon will be staff wellbeing and bereavement in the workplace.

A range of topics will be covered including:

- Supporting people with learning disabilities with grief and loss
- Bereavement experiences of older people
- Talking to children following a sudden death
- Bereavement following suicide
- Staff wellbeing and self-compassion
- Anticipatory grief of staff
- Baby loss, bereavement care and the impact on parents

For further information, including details regarding poster abstract submission and deadlines, please visit the NES Events website

#NESBereavement2023 @NES_Bereavement ✉ events@nes.scot.nhs.uk