

Scottish Partnership for Palliative Care Conference

Annie's Story

Monday 30th May 2022

Royal College of Physicians of Edinburgh

Time	Who	Title	Description
9.30	Annie's story part 1
9.35	Mark Hazelwood , CEO, Scottish Partnership for Palliative Care	Welcome	Housekeeping	Annie's story – told in short episodes during the day.
9.50	Mark Evans , Scottish Government Spiritual Care Advisor and National Operational Lead for Spiritual Care	"For such a time as this."	An opportunity to acknowledge collectively the past two years
10.10	Annie's story part 2
10.15	Kenny Steele , Co-Chair, End of Life Care Together Partnership and CEO Highland Hospice Michael Loynd , Macmillan Clinical Programme Director, End of Life Care Together	End of Life Care Together	What is a population approach to end of life care? What part can it play in tackling the enduring deficiencies and inequalities which successive endeavours have failed to eliminate?
11.00	Annie's story part 3
11.05	Dr Kirsty Boyd , Reader in Palliative Care, Primary Palliative Care Research Group, University of Edinburgh	"If I phone an ambulance, they're duty bound to take you to hospital, but I didn't want to go...."	Exploring the decisions and experiences of the public when seeking unscheduled care
11.30	Break (stalls, chat)

12.00	Annie's story part 4
12.05	Fliss Murtagh , Professor of Palliative Care and Associate Director of the Wolfson Palliative Care Research Centre	Stop flying blind!	Using outcomes to illustrate value, inform commissioning, and improve services
12.40	Mark Hazelwood, speakers, delegates	Round up	Seeking delegate views with Menti
1.00	Lunch
2.00pm	Parallel Sessions Round 1 (each session will be repeated and delegates can choose 2 from 5 topics)
A	Ivor Williams , Lead for End-of-Life Care at the Institute of Global Health Innovation and Helix Centre, Imperial College London.	"Tired, unsure but wanting to care"	Designing a digital platform to support families as they look after loved ones in the last phase of their life, including support for sub-cut injections
B	Michael Cholbi , Professor of Philosophy, University of Edinburgh	Why we should be glad for grief? (title tbc)	A guided tour of what philosophers have said about grief, arriving at a reflection on the value of grief
C	Dr Maggie Ellis , Senior Lecturer, School of Psychology and Neuroscience. St Andrews University	Communicating and maintaining connection with people who have dementia and can no longer speak	Exploring Adaptive Interaction, a simplified approach that uses the non-verbal fundamentals of communication to connect with people with dementia who can no longer speak

D	Dr Naomi Richards , Lecturer in Social Science, Director of the Glasgow End of Life Studies Group, University of Glasgow	The other "P" word: dying, loss and poverty in Scotland.	What is really known about social deprivation and the end of life in Scotland? What can be learned from attempts to tackle disadvantage during earlier phases of life? How might changing thinking about "poverty" inform future action?
E	Juliet Spiller , Consultant in Palliative Medicine, Marie Curie Edinburgh David Gillanders , Head of Clinical & Health Psychology, Edinburgh Uni Anne Finucane , Marie Curie Senior Research Fellow, Edinburgh Uni	ACT-ing for self-care in palliative care. Acceptance and Commitment Therapy (ACT) as an intuitive model for staff sustainability and patient benefit in palliative care – it's easier than you think...	This interactive session will involve an overview (ACT), a review of the evidence for ACT in palliative care, a summary of findings from our latest study on ACT to promote staff wellbeing, alongside opportunities to try out and watch some ACT techniques.
3.00	Parallel Sessions Round 2 (Choices as in Round 1 above)
3.55	Annie's story part 5
4.00	Cicely and David
	Showcasing an excerpt from a new one-act play about the founding of the hospice movement written by Professor David Clark and produced by Dr Jo Hockley
4.20	Mark Hazelwood	Thanks and Close
4.30-6	All	Tarry for a Swally in the Great Hall	Music, drink and chat (donations bar)